Carrying position #2 : Side Carrying Position
(6 month - 36 month / 7kg - 15kg)

The side carrying position allows your ever curious baby to see what is happening in the world around them. It also creates a clear line of vision for the wearer when walking about the world.

1. Place the sling on your shoulder.
(Please refer to P4 “Preparation for carrying your baby”)
Please check that the fabric of your back side does not twist.

2. Position the ring above your shoulder.
(The ring position will be down when you put your baby in and adjust the sling.)
The ideal position of the ring is on your collar bone.

3. Before place your baby in, spread the fabric and make a pocket so that baby can fit in.
The inner edge (green part) must be tight to prevent your baby from falling through.

4. Support your baby securely, lift up over your shoulder in the burping position and cover your baby’s body up with the fabric.

5. While supporting your baby, lower him/her into the sling and let their feet come out. Place your baby’s legs in the frog leg M shape position : Their knees higher than their bottom.
Fabric should extend to their knee to knee and sit under their bottom.

6. Place your baby on your side. It’s like your baby sit on your hip bone.
Support your baby while you tighten the sling.
To tighten, pull the tail of the sling down and out.
(Refer P10 “For better adjustment.”)

7. Ensure the fabric is under your baby’s bottom such as your baby sit on a chair and ther legs are in the M-shape.
Their knees should be higher than the bottom.
Fabric under knees and their bottom should extend from knee to knee.

8. Spread the sling to cover your baby’s back.

9. If your baby is not tight enough agaist you, adjust the sling.
(Refer P10 “How to adjust the sling”).
Be carreful not to twist the fabric in the sling.

10. Spread the fabric over your shoulder for added comfort.

11. Completed.
When you want to take out your baby, support your baby securely with your hand, loosen the sling a little from the ring, and take your baby out from the sling.
