

SUPPORi Featured In Kid Magazine, June/July 2014 Issue, Australia

Travelling with baby: a survival guide

Fun Kiwi, Kid Magazine Editor

When our daughter was four months old we decided the old car seat was too big to fit in the overhead bins on the flight to Melbourne for the week. To say that we were a bit nervous about the trip was an understatement. Not that our baby is usually a screamer, but I had visions of screaming baby, lost passengers and a very frustrated air stewardess. I had wanted the right one for the flight, but I had no idea what to do. I had a list of things to do, but I had no idea what to do. I had a list of things to do, but I had no idea what to do.

Getting to your destination

If you travel alone, it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you.

If you travel alone, it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you.

If you travel alone, it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you. The airline will be more than happy to let you go, but it's best to have someone else with you.

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

Photo: iStockphoto.com

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

Photo: iStockphoto.com

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

Photo: iStockphoto.com

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

Photo: iStockphoto.com

It's not just the airline that you need to worry about. There are other things to think about when you're travelling with a baby. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip. You need to make sure you have everything you need for the trip.

We were pleased to see another publication writing about the benefits of our award-winning SUPPORi baby carrier! Kid Magazine, a free Australian magazine for mothers who want to make the most of life with baby, included the SUPPORi in an article about traveling with a little one in tow.

(SNIPPET OF CONTENT FROM THE MAGAZINE)

“Take a baby carrier to the airport so you have something to carry baby in between check-in and the plane. The SUPPORi Baby Carrier is ideal as it weighs only 80g [2.8oz] and can easily fold up into your handbag when you board the plane.”

We love seeing this short, sweet feature that highlights one of the SUPPORi's key benefits – its compact size, which makes it an ideal traveling companion.